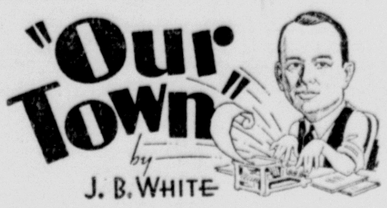
UTILITY NEGOTIATIONS OPENED



We Must Do It!

Circulation, properly and profitably managed, is the best asset of any newspaper. Improperly managed, it becomes a burden and will eventually make inroads on the resources of any publication that attempts to carry expirations.

The percentage of renewals to cover lapsed time is so small that losses occur in most cases where newspapers "keep the paper going" in the hope that subscriptions will be paid.

This situation brings us to say that the time has come to revise the mailing lists. However regretful it may appear to us, it is necessary to discontinue all subscriptions not paid in advance. This is dictated by a number of good and sufficient reasons, not the least of which are postal regulations. Newspapers not paid for cannot legally go through the mails. This means that when expiration date is reached, if the paper is not renewed, it becomes a free copy under postal regulations.

Chief among the problems incident to circulation is the number of accounts. In the larger publications, circulation is one of the major departments of the business. Men especially trained for this work are retained. With the weekly in Cameron even postage cannot be incurred because in most cases people pay no attention to small matters of this kind. When the paper fails to reach their box on any given week the first reaction is manifest. It usually takes the form of an inquiry. It is extremely painful to tell an old reader his paper has been dropped from the list. He thinks you are doubting his integrity. This, of course is not the case. Publishers in reality have no option.

Circulation problems are aggravated by separate policies of competing newspapers. While one paper attempts to comply with regulations and operates its subscription department on a business basis, another will carry expirations for several years, and in the end lose, just to keep the mailing lists up to par.

The Herald follows a policy of standard accord over the country. It is possible that one may receive an extra copy of their big city daily but not many beyond that. True, notices are mailed, but the subscription price will justify it.

Notices have been printed in these pages for some time asking renewals. Now that this notice has been given the lists are this week revised and all subscriptions found to be unpaid have been discontinued.

Those who did not receive this copy, will not read this. Others whose subscriptions are near expiration may profit by considering this appeal.

In their efforts to find an explanation for the increasing prevalence of crime, many thoughtful persons have concluded that the tendency to burden the public with a multiplicity of laws may account for much of the lawlessness which now prevails.

Speaking before an international convention of police chiefs, Dr. Carlton Simon said: "We can limit and harass human freedom to such an extent that even the normally balanced individual feels that he is oppressed and will seek unlawful means of expressing his personality."

Through the operation of innumerable laws and the activities of government agencies employed thereunder we are restricted, inspected, spied upon, investigated and caused many unnecessary annoyances which are resented by a people who love freedom."

If more attention were paid to apprehending and punishing real criminals, while allowing greater freedom from harassment to respectable

'Broadway Melody' of 1938 at The Cameron Sunday

Broadway pricks up its drooping ears like an old fire horse at the sound of the alarm as "Broadway Melody of 1938" sounds gayly from Hollywood.

There is irony in the new order of showmanship, as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer produces a musical comedy that excells in lavish splendor anything that Broadway ever attempted, including Ziegfield's Follies.

Indeed, the studio raided Broadway for most of the talent which appeared in this spectacular new film at the Cameron Theatre Sunday. Only Robert Taylor, who co-stars with Eleanor Powell, is strictly a product of the screen. Miss Powell, of course, scintillated on the stage long before she tapped her way to cinematic fame. The combination appeared in "Broadway Melody of 1936," before the handsome young college boy attained the topmost rung of the Hollywood ladder. Miss Powell is positively brilliant in her dances.

Sophie Tucker, Broadway perennial for many years, now carries on in the studio. and with her in this amazing picture are George Murphy, Binnie Barnes, Buddy Ebsen, Judy Barland, Charles Igor Gorin, Raymond Walburn, Robert Benchley, Willie Moward, Charles Grapewin, Robert Wildhack and a chorus of girls that would have brought out the

The young woman who bears the strong resemblance of Joan Crawford is Dardenella Ault of Corpus Christi, who was chosen freshman "bride" at Mary Hardin-Baylor. The annual "wedding" a traditional symbol of the sealing of the friendship of the junior and freshman classes, took place Saturday night with Christene Lindsey, Malakoff, president of the junior class, serving as "bride groom." An Aztec setting was used. Because the annual ieremony is familiarly known as the "marriage" of "Ima Newgirl" to "U. R. Oldgirl," it tripped up Mr. Ripley, who used it in one of the recent "Believe It Or Not" cartoons as a bonafide wedding.

NEW CHEVROLET HERE SATURDAY OCT. 23RD

Noteworthy advances in performance, economy, safety, durability and style, gained through systematic refinement of features already thoroughly proved in the hands of the public, mark the two new passenger car series which Grabein Chevrolet Company is introudcing here Saturday October 23, for 1938. Both lines embody an improvement destined to rank as outstanding in the industry this year—the revolutionary new "Tiptoe-matic" clutch combining more positive action with greater operating ease, and adding importantly to the safety, comfort and durability of the car.

The 1938 line, Chevrolet engineers assert, represents important advances over even the highly successful 1937 models. Refinements extend to bodies, both interiors and exteriors, and to numerous units of the chassis, whose design, however, remains fundamentally unchanged. The power plant in both series is the 85-horsepower high-compression valve-in-head six-cylinder engine whose power smoothness, economy, and freedom from service interruptions are already familiar to millions of owners throughout the world.

All models have Chevrolet's perfected hydraulic brakes, all-silent, all-steel turret top bodies by Fisher, and the trouble-free hypoid rear axle. In the Master DeLuxe series, Chevrolet fully-enclosed knee action is starting its fifth year.

Outwardly, the most notable change in the new Chevrolets is their advanced styling, which is especially evident

MAYOR AND ATTORNEY GO TO FORT WORTH

Direct negotiations for the purchase of the water system of the Community Public Service Company were opened for the first time Wednesday when Mayor Chas. C. Smith and City Attorney, Bill Morrison, held a conference with officials of the utility company in Fort Worth.

The people recently authorized $150,000 in bonds to buy or to build a water system. The manner and method of spending this money is left to the discretion of the council.

The water company thus far has declined to sell its properties. It was believed the amount voted in bonds is insufficient to buy or to build an adequate system, but in the event more funds are necessary there was every indication the people would follow the leadership of Mr. Smith in any undertaking to acquire these utilities.

Texas Aggies Get Ready for Baylor Saturday

College Statitn, Tejas, Oct. 20.—There is no rest for a Southwest Conference grid team when all seven clubs begin throwing their chips on the line, and Coach Homer Norton's Texas Aggies are finding it out this week as they prep for their go Saturday, Oct. 23, with Baylor's Battling Bears.

Important at the time and crucial in the fading minutes when they managed to tie the score, the past Saturday's 7-7 tie with Texas Christian faded rapidly early this week when the Cadets bumped against their Freshman team already primed with Baylor's pet plays.

Yoemen to Clash With The Eagles

By CHAS. M. HICKS

The Cameron Yoemen upset the "dope bucket" when they defeated the strong Taylor Ducks by a score of 13 to 0 on the local gridiron last Friday night. In this victory the Yoemen showed such unexpected strength in the first half of the game that the local fans were reminded of the Regional Championship team of last year. The blocking and tackling were much better than they have been all season and if the local boys will continue this type of play the district championship should be at stake when they play their next to last district game with Belton.

The Yoemen meet the Georgetown Eagles is Georgetown next Friday night. This game is expected to attract considerable attention among the high school fans in this section of the state. The local fans are anxious to see if the Yoemen can continue to show the improvement displayed last week. While the Eagles have improved steadily and looked very strong in their 32 to 6 victory over Rosebud last Friday, they will be playing their hardest game of the season thus far. It will be the first time this contest has been played in Georgetown, and the Yoemen team wants their initial appearance on Snyder Field to be auspicious. On the sidelines the team will be encouraged by the fine Yoemen Band, and the Pep Squad and a large following of local fans.

Coach Wood was encouraged by the showing of Weems, a reserve tackle, in the Taylor game. Weems replaced Lazek who broke a collar bone in practice Thursday.

Gertrude Ludwig Is Air Hostess on East to West Flying Lanes

First Cameron girl to become a member of the newest profession for women—that of air stewardess of modern transport planes speeding over airways—is Gertrude Ludwig, who is flying regularly on the Seattle-San Francisco-Los Angeles-San Diego airway of United Air Lines.

Born in Cameron in December, 1915, Miss Ludwig attended elementary and high school here and later the University of Texas. She later received her nursing training in San Francisco and was engaged in private nursing duty and in a supervisory capacity in San Francisco Hospital before her employment by United Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ludwig, reside in Cameron.

"Although I have been flying as an air stewardess for only a few weeks, I am very enthusiastic about my duties," Miss Ludwig exclaimed during a brief stop on her run. "I find flying very enjoyable, but even more important, the interesting people I meet keeps my job from becoming monotonous. I wouldn't think of trading it for a job on the ground."

Requirements for a position as air stewardess on United Air Lines include that the candidate be a graduate registered nurse. Miss Ludwig explained that this qualification is imposed, not because it is necessary to attend to ill passengers, as only two per cent of passengers are susceptible to air sickness. She explained the discipline in the training of a registered nurse and her ability to deal with all types of people are responsible for nurses being employed.

Miss Ludwig is flying approximately 2,000 miles a week in regular duty. There are 140 other air stewardesses of United Air Lines the firts of which was employed on the Chicago-San Francisco division of the company's coast-to-coast route in May 1930.

Burglars in the home of James Norris of Chicago carried away about $1000 worth of whisky, but left $800 in cash undisturbed in a dresser drawer.

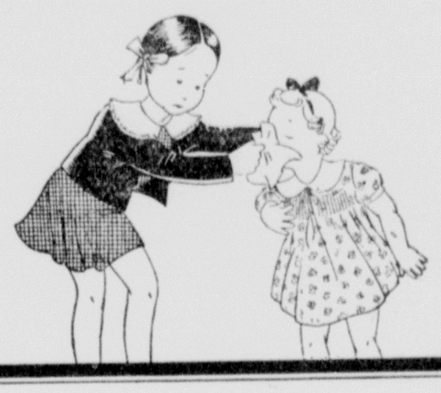
Fight colds! Protect yourself and your family against becoming overheated or chilled. If you do "catch cold" consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.



ONLY "a cold"....

but serious disease may follow

YOUR doctor will tell you that "common colds" are dangerous. Fifty per cent of all disabling diseases start with this all too frequent winter illness. Many "colds" result from sudden changes of temperature such as occur to occupants of the home as they go from a warm room into an unheated part of the house. Unless every room is comfortably warm sudden changes of temperature are unavoidable.

Winter months, more than any other season of the year, require careful protective measures against "the common cold." If YOUR family is constantly "catching cold" HEAT YOUR ENTIRE HOUSE THIS WINTER FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE — it's a simple precaution to avoid the dangers of sudden changes of temperature.

Julie Kubacak Becomes the Bride of Johnnie Gelner

In a very beautiful ceremony Tuesday, October 12, at 9:30 at the S. S. Cyrill and Methodj Catholic church at Marak, Miss Julie Kubacak of Cameron became the lovely bride of Johonnie Gelner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gelner, of Ad Hall.

The Rev. Charles Kacer performed the single ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with white and pink roses and carnations with ferns, with burning white tall tapers at the base of the altar.

Preceding the ceremony the sisters and high school pupils of the S. S. Cyrill and Methodj high school played and sang the wedding march and songs.

The Faichtinger Orchestra of Cameron played the wedding march when the bridal couple marched to the house.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother James. She was dressed in a gown of white silk taffetta with "gone with the wind," skirt with long Princess style sleeves tapered to tight bands at the wrist. The veil of antique ivory bridal illusion was garlanded at the cap with lillies of the valley and drapped over the face to floor length. Her bouquet was of white carnations and ferns.

Miss Angelee Marie Winkler of Taylor, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was dressed in the same style in rose, with gold accessories and an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Angelee Gelner, sister of the bride groom was dressed in the style of the bride in blue, with silver accessories and an arm boquet of pink roses.

Jimmie Kubacak, brother of the bride, and Cyrill Jabinek, brother in law of the bride groom, both of Cameron, served as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was served at the bride's parents.

A dance was given at the National Bohemian Dance Hall, at Cameron to honor the bridal couple. The Faichtinger Orchestra of Cameron furnished music for the evening at home and at the dance.

Witnesses were Mr. Frank Winkler, uncle of the bride and John Jabinek, brother in law of the bride groom.

The couple will make their home at Ad Hall.

One of the leading bankers of the Northwest attributes many of the farm failures in his section to lack of experience, lack of working capital, or both, on the part of those who have failed.

A check-up of those who had been unsuccessful as farmers in one agricultural community illustrates his contention. Among them were the following:

Two circus musicians, a paper hanger, a sailor, a seagoing engineer, two professional wrestlers, two barbers, a cigar maker, a race horse man, a bricklayer, an undertaker, a deep sea diver, a professional gambler, a milliner, and six old maids.

All of these failed as farmers, of course, as might have been foretold, and their unfavorable experiences illustrate the futility of much of the "back to the farm" propaganda that has been going about.

Even under the stress of unfavorable conditions such as are now being experienced, farmers may be found who have not only held their own but who have made material progress. But they are not the fly-by-night kind who turn to farming after failing in other pursuits.

THE CLOSING LEGISLATURE

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

The second called session of the 45th Legislature is coming to the closing days. There is such a state of confusion that nobody can tell with any degree of certainty what the final record will be. As I said last week, there is a real row on between the House and the Senate. The Governor, on account of being indisposed, has not been able to take active part in the legislative deliberations. He appears to have lost the support of most all of his friends in the legislature. It is even reported that he and Speaker Calvert have come to the parting of the ways.

The Senate has took the bits in its teeth and without any call from the Governor has arbitrarily reduced appropriations of the regular session by something over $5,000,000. Much of the cut has been made into the educational appropriations. This has caused considerable activity on the part of the educational lobby who have returned to Austin for action.

The House passed the omnibus bill which raised the taxes some twenty-five per cent on oil, sulphur, gas, telephones, public utilities and cement. Much feeling is expressed because the moving picture shows and carbon black was left out of the bill.

The omnibus bill reached the Senate Thursday and the Senate adjourned until Monday. It is quite certain now that neither the House omnibus bill nor the Senate appropriation bill will pass in their present form. The House has passed a law permitting the sale of liquor by the drink and sent same to the Senate. It is very doubtful whether this bill will pass or not. As I view the situation, I would guess that the bill will not pass, but the issue is so closely drawn that anything can happen.

There is considerable speculation as to whether the Governor will call another session at this time. If the legislature would give him what he wants on taxes, my opinion is that he would call the session back. It is rumored that he is willing to trade a special session for taxes. My opinion is he will not call an extra session now. I believe he is like the fellow that was figthing the bear, and said: "Mr. Bear I am not scared of you, but I would like to rest a little while."

A political sop has been thrown out to the old age people, but real relief has been withheld. None of the plans proposed will anything like pay all the people that are 65 years of age and otherwise qualified under the constitution. Thousands of pensioners have never been recognized though they are qualified under the constitution and under the present law. Therefore, the issue will come up in next year's election and will be attended with more interest and fury than ever before. Day to day the sentiment for a sales tax grows stronger and stronger, and it is becoming plainer to every thinking person that the passage of the sales tax is the only plan that can be passed that will pay the pensioners in full.

My wife continues to receive scores of letters from all over the state urging her to become a candidate for a third term; but she has not made up her mind as to what she will do. The election is quite a ways distant yet, and she is taking advantage of such developments before determining what she will do. Maybe some candidate will announce on a platform that will make it unnecessary for her to run. None of the prospective candidates have announced their candidacy or a platform upon which they will ask election. This being true, it is wholly unnecessary for my wife to make any decision or announcement.

4H Club Boys and Girls Guests of John W. Carpenter In Dallas

Sixty-one 4H club boys and girls from Tyler spent three days in Dallas last week as guests of John W. Carpenter, president and general manager of the Texas Power and Light Company, a reward for winning a contest open to all clubs in the 63 counties reached by the Company's transmission lines. The contest, conducted by the Extension Division of A. & M. College of Texas, was a clean sweep for Smith County, with girls from the Starrville community and boys from Noonday being the winners. Starrville sent the boys winners to Dallas last year in a similar contest and the girls, winners this year, were defeated by the smallest possible margin by the Spring Creek club of Parker County.

Broadway Melody

police reserves at any stage entrance in the days when Broadway called the movies flickers.

"Broadway Melody of 1938" was directed by Roy Del Ruth and produced by Jack Cummings. Dave Gould, the Academy Award winning dance director, staged the foot work. Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed collaborated on the music.

Eleanor Powell and George Murphy symbolize the current west coast jubilation in their number, "I'm Feeling Like a Million." Charles Igor Gorin, operatic star, sings "Sun Showers" and Robert Taylor joins Miss Powell in "Yours and Mine."

The world's most accomplished feminine tap dancer offers "Pair of New Shoes" and then with Murphy and Buddy Ebsen, "Follow in My Footsteps." She appears again with Sophie Tucker, Judy Garland, Taylor, Hurphy, Ebsen and Gorin in "Your Broadway and My Broadway." And Sophie Tucker revives her famous song hit, "Some of These Days."

"Broadway Melody of 1936" reveals a set which represents the New York skyline with more incandescents than the Manhattan skyescrapers can accommodate. It employs a ninety-ton glass curtain and the chorus girls wear cellophane.

The story is fast moving, with a race track atmosphere. It has an amusing plot twist. Miss Powell acquires a runner, raised by her father, when Taylor, a young play-wright, buys it for her out of sentiment. The girl dances in a night club to pay for horse feed, but the animal wins his race and repays everyone with interest. Without exception the cast is superb.

"Broadway Melody of 1938" is ahead of its time, as its title indicates and it leaves dear old Broadway gasping for breath at the first quarter. The picture is unquestionably the foremost musical production yet to come from Hollywood.

New Chevrolet

at the front end. The top of the hood sweeps forward from the cowl in a graceful curve, to cap the almost vertical flat-topped radiator and grille. The latter, a radical improvement over previous design, consists of chronium-plated horizontal bars, flowing back from the center line of the grille to blend into the radiator shell. Accentuating these lines, every fifth bar is of double, pin striped down the center with vermilion enamel. The new Chevrolet emblem, in cream letters on blue, embossed in a die-cast winged shield, is centered at the top. The speedline which introduced a new style note is continued in 1938.

Other important changes extend to louvers, headlamps and their mountings, hood side panels, running boards, and body hardware, interior and exterior. Outside door handles are incurved at their ends for greater safety, and embody the vermilion enameled pin stripe found on the grille. The overall effect of the many refinements in the hood and body is one of great length and racier, more graceful lines—an impression of fleetness which is confirmed when one takes to the road.

Engine advances for 1938 are mainly in the nature of refinements, although a new and lighter flywheel, in conjunction with the new cluth, affords greater flexibility and quicker response to the controls, and valve-springs, valves, and certain portions of the cooling system have been re-designed rather than simply refined. There is faster transfer of heat from the combustion chambers, especially in the vicinity of the valves, in spite of the fact that the cooling system in 1937 was outstanding for efficiency.

The most notable change in the power plant and its related units is the electrical system, which is entirely new. It consists of a new higher-capacity generator with voltage regulator which adjusts its output at all times to the load imposed on the battery; a new starting mechanism of the type furnished on costlier General Motors cars, with over-running clutch and automatic throttle, opening assuring easy, positive starts; and a new, weather-tight, and accessible cover.

Soil Erosion Studies Temple Station

BY WALTER LUCAS
Cameron FFA Reporter

Does your farm lose twenty tons of soil per acre and a third or more of the rainfall by run-off each year, Mr. Farmer? Possibly you do not know the answer but if you run the rows up and down the slope and you have black land with a slope of 3 1-2 per cent or more, you are certain to be losing that much water and soil, possibly more.

Carefully controlled experiments at the Temple Experiment Station show that 19.7 tons of soil and 10 1-2 inches of rain are lost from each year when the rows run up and down the slope. These losses can be stopped though, other test plans indicate.

With a similar slope, and with the same type of black waxy land, only three-fourths of a ton of soil and one-third inch of rain was lost when 24 foot strips of close growing cane or sudan were planted across the slope. This is less than one fifth the amount lost under the up-and-down slope method of farming.

When rows were contoured, that is run around the slope on the level, and no other treatment given, the soil loss was 8 1-2 tons per year and the water loss only 3 inches per year. This is only a third of the loss under the old system of rows up and down the slope.

Crops under a 3 year rotation lost less soil from the land than those that were continuously cropped to corn or to cotton. (This study made by Cameron boys during Temple visit.)

Ever Popular Role of News Reporter Features Film at Cameron Oct. 26th

Authenticity is an absolute necessity in picture-making. Especially was it important during the production stages of "One Mile From Heaven," the Twentieth Century-Fox picture, at the Cameron Theatre, Oct. 26 and 27.

However, to make sure of his arrangement, Director Allan Dwan confronted a visiting reporter for his opinion of the court house press room layout.

The newspaperman surveyed the situation for a moment and then replied:

"Well, Ray Walker and Russell Hopton look as though they may be real court house reporters. I won't remember ever seeing a girl reporter as attrative as Clarie Trevor, but that's all right—it's an idea that should be encouraged. However, Chick Chandler looks too smart. He'd have the number one job on a newspaper."

Dwan alibied that one by suggesting they make it that Chick had an argument with the city editor and had been assigned the court house beat for discipline.

Clarie Trevor, to whom the newspaperman was throwing bouquets, has the leading feminine role in "One Mile From Heaven." Sally Blane, Douglas Fowley, Fredi Washington, and Bill Robinson are featured with her in the smashing drama of a story that blasted the front pages wide open.

Before shooting himself, Wilber Lindsay of Fort Worth, Texas, wrote: "All women are chiselers of one sort or another; they are all gold diggers."

To Women:

If you suffer every month you owe it to yourself to take note of Cardui and find out whether it will benefit you.

Functional pains of menstruation have, in many, many cases, been eased by Cardui. And where malnutrition (poor nourishment) had taken away woman's strength, Cardui has been found to increase the appetite, improve digestion and in that way help to build up a natural resistance to certain useless suffering. (Where Cardui fails to benefit, consult a physician.)

Ask your druggist for Cardui—(pronounced "Card-u-i").

Aggies

two games, reported Baylor has the best team he has ever seen from that school. He had nothing but high praise for Bill Patterson, Milton Evans and Bubba Gernand, backs and Sam Boyd, end, among others, and said the Aggies have a big job cut out for them if they are to knock Baylor out of the undefeated or untied class now numbering but 15 in the nation.

With Aggie freshman, using Baylor plays, rummaging about on offense, Norton is devoting the major portion of the practice time to polishing his pass defense which reached a new high last Saturday against TCU. Davey O'Brien, Frog passer, attempted 19 passes, completed only four and had two fall in Cadet hands.

Dick Todd, loose-footed halfback, bumped the leg which he injured against Mississippi State late in the TCU game and was helped from the field, but the injury has responded to tratement and he is expected to be in top shape by Saturday. He was the only Aggie casualty in the game with the Frogs.

Norton was well pleased with the Texas Christian game and although he wanted to win that one badly, he was satisfied that the breaks, virtually all of which went against Aggies, did no greater harm.

Ticket sales for the Baylor game took a spurt after the Bear victory over Centenary last Saturday, and according to E. W. Hooker, ticket manager, probably will hit an all-time high for a Baylor-Aggie game at College Station. Baylor has declared a holiday and 1500 of the students are expected to follow the team to Kyle Field. The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

With the Agies boasting of two victories and a tie to date and Baylor as yet undefeated or tied in four games, there is bound to be a lot of football played at Aggieland Saturday. Both teams hold conference title hopes and a victory for either team will make them national standouts in the eyes of the football fans.
